

Put a Bible verse to work today

Try a peacemaking question, a pause before replying and a sentence of specific encouragement.

01 Turn a peacemaking verse into a next step

After reading Matthew 5:9, think of two people talking past each other. Write one question that could help them hear each other.

Write the question

02 Take a remembered verse into a real reply

You recalled James 1:19 while reading a frustrating message. Which response gives listening a place before you answer?

- ▢ Answer the harshest possible interpretation immediately
- ▢ Ask what the sender meant by the unclear line

03 Make a quiet act of encouragement count

A coworker did the invisible work behind a shared success. What could you say the next time the team discusses it?
